Nixon Goes for Votes in Wisconsin

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon moves into Wisconsin today, opening one of the most critical battles in his fight to win the Republican presidential nomination for a second time.

This is the second leg in Nixon's drive.

He finished three days of intensive campaigning in New Hampshire today and one of his aides, commenting on the receptions to his appearances, said "It was all and more than we expected."

New Hampshire holds the nation's first presidential primary election on March 12, followed by the Wisconsin primary April 2.

Nixon is counting heavily on destroying his "loser image" by winning decisively in six primaries—and especially the first two.

His lieutenants see New Hampshire as ultra important to him to start the momentum which they hope will carry into Wisconsin. He himself concedes the significance of the first primary, but he said, "Put it this way: The New Hampshire primary isn't going to nominate any candidate and it isn't going to defeat any candidate."

His opposition in the Granite State is Gov. George Romney of Michigan, the only other avowed Republican candidate. Romney also has entered the Wisconsin primary.

Meanwhile, reports persist that New Hampshire supporters of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York are preparing to organize a write-in campaign on his behalf. Rockefeller says he is not running. Whether such a campaign would take more votes from Nixon or Romney is a matter of speculation here.

Nixon spent Sunday in Hillsboro, a village of 2,600, in informal question-answer sessions with five separate groups, housewives, businessmen, students, farmers and young married couples. The conversations with them were filmed for television spots to be used later in his campaign.

Between sessions, he strolled through the snow-and-ice rimmed streets of the village, shaking hands and chatting with the residents.

Progress at Prison, Says Mr. Murton
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton said Sunday that great strides had been made at Tucker Prison Farm in the form of an educational program and a training program.

Murton was assistant superintendent in charge of Tucker for almost a year before taking over at Cummins Prison Farm Jan. 1.

"The prisoners are sane and happy," Murton said of the inmates at Tucker. "They don't look like prisoners out of Dachau."

Murton made the comments in a filmed television program shown on KARK-TV.

Murton said he still didn't know how many inmates were supposed to be at Cummins. He said he had finally determined how many inmates actually were at Cummins and how many listed as having escaped.

Three members of the state Prison Board said over the weekend that they supported Murton and his attempts at reform in the prisons.

Dr. William Pierce Lytle of Clarksville, a board member, said he felt that Murton "certainly has the support of the board."

Murton said last week in a letter that he intended to resign as superintendent. He later informed the inmates at Cummins that he had not resigned.

Lytle said Saturday he felt Murton had displayed "creative leadership" during the past year.

Dr. W. Payton Kolb of Little Rock, another member of the board, said he voted to make Murton superintendent and "I'm, of course, going to back him up."

Board member Marshall Neil Rush of Pine Bluff said the discovery of three skeletons at Cummins had made the people of the state more aware that changes are necessary.

tered the territorial waters of North Korea. That country asserts jurisdiction over a strip of sea 12 miles wide and the length of its coast.

"No," McNamara answered, "I think we can't say beyond a shadow of a doubt, at no time during its voyage it entered North Korean waters." He added the ship's captain had strict orders to stay in international waters and, "we believe he did."

But McNamara said the Pueblo maintained radio silence from Jan. 10 when it took up station on the Sea of Japan until Jan. 21 when, presumably, North Korea identified the ship. The capture occurred Jan. 23.

Rusk added to the McNamara comments that "it would not disturb us" to make public the ship's location if it were determined after the crew was released that there had been a violation of North Korean waters.

The statements of the two officials moved away from the previously emphatic position of the Defense and State Departments that they were confident the ship had stayed outside the 12-mile line.

McNamara touched on the developing dispute with Congress over protecting such ships when he said such incidents as the Pueblo seizure might happen again. He further indicated that if he knew about such a future situation as it developed, He might not send rescue forces.

ture's action in its regular session last year committed Arkansas "once and for all to a departure from the age-old and archaic system of running our penitentiaries."

The governor urged the lawmakers to permit the electorate to decide whether to call a constitutional convention rather than having the legislature decide the issue.

He also urged that the General Assembly enact a bill, prepared by the Constitutional Revision Study Commission, that sets up the mechanics of a convention.

Rockefeller also pleaded that the body enact legislation allowing him to reappoint Lynn A. Davis as State Police director.

"When you change the law . . . I hardly need to tell you I will reappoint Lynn Davis," he said.

The governor referred to his inaugural address in which he spoke of an "Era of Excellence."

"I have never faltered in my confidence that we in Arkansas can achieve such an era," he said.

Rockefeller said the first step had been taken by the creation of three study commissions.

"To walk a mile one must take first steps and I am proud that we have taken the first steps on the road to excellence," the governor said.

"In this unfortunate moment when, once again, Arkansas is being subjected to cruel publicity, we can stand with heads high and say with conviction: What you say may be true, but that is of the past."

The governor said "Era of Excellence" had been criticized as a "jest, a joke and a farce," but that he had not promised "overnight miracles."

However, he said, he had promised to approach every task with all his ability. He is doing that, he said.

"There is great leadership in this assembly . . . leadership that is challenged by the potential before us," Rockefeller said. "Yet, there may be those of faint heart who relish in anticipating disaster and defeat . . . and no doubt they have reference to my defeat."

"But growth, prosperity and a better Arkansas can not flourish in negative thinking."

Rockefeller discussed his reasons for wanting two special sessions rather than one, explaining that financial matters would be taken up at a session he plans, probably in May, after a thorough study into state spending has been conducted during the next two or three months.

He said the sudden prosperity from the "windfall" double income tax year in 1966 had led to the current financial crisis facing the state.

He said the 1965 General Assembly created new programs and expanded existing ones in anticipation of the tax bonanza that came when a tax withholding law went into effect at the same time taxes for the previous year were being paid.

"The error, if we can call it that, was in failing to plan adequately for the adjustment period that had to follow the one-time double collection," Rockefeller said.

5 Arkansans Killed Outside of the State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two persons were killed on the Arkansas highways during the weekend and five Arkansas residents lost their lives in traffic accidents outside the state.

State Police said Mrs. Florence Smith, 67, of Roland and Ed Marshall were killed in accidents in the state during the 54-hour period which ended at midnight Sunday.

Authorities said Harley Tollett, 44, DeQueen; J. R. Hill, 47, and Jack Gray, 51, both of Locksburg; Lanny T. Wilber, 18, of Maysville, and Guthrie T. Parish, 39, of Ravendon Springs were killed outside the Arkansas boundaries.

Officers said Mrs. Smith was killed Saturday evening when the car in which she was riding was struck by a vehicle driven by Henry Studer, 33, of Little Rock about four miles west of Little Rock on Arkansas 10.

Marshall was the driver of a westbound car which became stuck at a railroad crossing inside the Tuckerman city limits and was struck by a train. The accident occurred Friday night.

Tollett was the driver of a car which collided with a pickup truck driven by Carphin Williams, 47, Eagletown, Okla., about two miles east of Broken Bow, Okla. Saturday night. Hill and Gray were passengers in the Tollett vehicle.

Wilber was killed when his motorcycle collided with a pickup truck and then careened into a car about seven miles east of Jay, Okla., on Oklahoma 20 Saturday.

Parish was struck by a car Saturday and killed while attempting to cross Interstate 40, 10 miles west of the Tennessee River Bridge near Camden, Tenn.

The island of Corfu is sometimes called the Greek Riviera.

said one wing had been on the alert since Sunday to receive the Pueblo's casualties.

The sources said the negotiations at Panmunjom are being carried on by Rear Adm. John V. Smith for the United States and Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kook for North Korea. They were reported meeting with only interpreters present, as they did first on Friday and again Sunday.

U.S. Embassy and military spokesmen in Seoul refused to comment on the reports of the meeting today.

Reports of the North Korean offer to return the casualties circulated after the meeting Sunday, but U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said he had no word of any such offer.

Some Seoul officials expressed suspicion that the United States was getting ready to issue an apology to North Korea over the incident in order to get the Pueblo crewmen back. A spokesman for President Chung Hee Park's ruling Democratic Republic party said party leaders agreed the secret American-North Korean talks at Panmunjom would "only encourage further Communist provocations" in Korea.

Monday, February 5, 1968

North Korea's official press agency claimed a fourth officer of the Pueblo—its navigator—had admitted that the intelligence-gathering vessel had violated territorial waters of the Communist nation.

The agency quoted Lt. Edward Renz Murphy Jr., 31, of Berkeley, Calif., as saying the ship had entered North Korean waters more than five times before it was captured Jan. 23.

The statement attributed to Murphy, like the other three before it, included an apology, a promise not to engage in future "hostile acts" against North Korea and a plea for leniency.

The purported confession said the Pueblo's mission was to "detect and localize radars" in North Korea and to study particularly a "cross slot" radar believed to be an early air warning system. The Pueblo also was to observe and photograph naval ships and take notes of submarine activities in the North Korean ports of Wonsan, Mayang Do, Songjin and Chongjin, the statement said.

Murphy was quoted as admitting the Pueblo intruded into Communist waters twice in the Songjin area, and also in the Mayang Do and Wonsan areas.

BRIDAL SHOWER

The Fellowship Hall of the First Assembly of God Church was the scene of a Bridal Shower on January 18, honoring Miss Sandra Lynn Harmon, bride-elect of James Larry Carman.

For the occasion the honoree wore a navy blue and chartreuse wool dress, to which she pinned a corsage of white carnations, a gift from ladies of the church.

Two games were played with prizes going to Mrs. J. M. Hockett and Mrs. Carl Evans.

White carnations decorated the serving table from which punch, cookies, and nuts were served.

Guests included Mrs. Dorris Carman and Mrs. Kenneth Harmon, mothers of the engaged couple.

HONORED WITH BRIDAL SHOWER
Miss Sandra Lynn Harmon, bride-elect of James Larry Carman, was honored with a miscellaneous shower on January 19 at the W.O.W. Hall.

The honoree was attired in a yellow tulle suit. She was presented a corsage of white carnations by the hostesses, Meses: Ray Duke, L. A. Sinyard, Jr., Don Fagan, and Don Arnett.

A red and white floral arrangement centered the gift table. After the gifts were opened, punch, cookies, and nuts were served to the 33 guests which included, Mrs. Dorris Carman, mother of the future groom, and Mrs. Kenneth Harmon, mother of the honoree.

The serving table was covered in red and overlaid with white lace.

EVANS - COX VOWS ARE EXCHANGED
Donald H. Evans and his bride, the former Miss Mary Caroline Cox, are living in Pine Bluff following their wedding Friday evening, February 2.

The Rev. Everett Vinson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated at the ceremony in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Donald Lamar Cox, in the presence of the families and close friends of the couple.

Honor attendants were Miss Lamar Cox, sister of the bride, and Robert H. Evans, father of the groom.

A reception at the home followed the ceremony.
The bride, whose father was the late Donald Lamar Cox, attended Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va., and the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville.

A graduate of Arkansas State Teachers College, Conway, the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Evans, North Little Rock.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Tom Kinser was hostess to a meeting of her Friday Bridge Club on February 2. At the two tables were club members and one guest, Mrs. Roy Wilson. High scorers were Mrs. H. C. Whitworth and Mary K. Lehman. Pie, nuts, and coffee were served.

KITCHEN SHOWER FOR VICTIMS OF FIRE

A kitchen shower for Mr. and Mrs. Randy Johnson was held Friday afternoon, February 2 at KXAR. The couple, whose home burned in December, will have an increased family in March, so the items were most welcome.

Spring flowers centered the improvised serving table, where pie and cold drinks were enjoyed by the staff and guests.

Medicare for Motorists Seems Likely

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The process that brought the federal government into the health insurance field has begun to work in automobile insurance, much to the industry's dismay.

Whether the auto insurance people, unlike the doctors, are alert enough to head off the motorists' equivalent of medicare remains to be seen. What seems clear, however, is that one way or another there will be changes in the present system.

Expressions of wide and growing dissatisfaction by the motoring public with the rates and practices of auto insurance companies has been noted by President Johnson. In his State of the Union message he called for a government study of the industry.

Johnson is well behind Congress in his request. Four congressional committees have either announced investigations of their own or asked that a federal agency undertake one.

The possibility that such government scrutiny could lead to federal regulation, if not some form of federal accident insurance, has produced a searching self-examination within the industry and studies by outside observers. But the voices that have been raised as a result indicate wide differences of opinion about what should be done.

Suggested "solutions" range from minor tinkering with the present system to a proposed drastic revision that challenges the concept on which the system is based—namely, that someone has to be found at fault in every accident before a claim is paid.

Two law professors, Robert E. Keeton of Harvard and Jerry O'Connell of the University of Illinois, have devised the sweeping plan which, in essence, would operate like medical insurance. The victim of a traffic mishap would recover his actual medical costs and lost wages up to a fixed amount no matter who was at fault in the accident.

The professors say the present system is appallingly wasteful and rampantly unjust. Only half the money paid out in premiums comes back in benefits, they say, adding:

—Claimants settle for far less than they are entitled to in the face of hard bargaining by insurance companies and long delays in paying off.

—Victims in accidents where no blame can be fixed, or where both parties are at fault, collect nothing.

The O'Connell-Keeton plan has won some advocates in the industry and more outside it. The fiercest attacks on it have come from the legal profession. And editorial in a recent issue of the American Trial Lawyers Association magazine called it "a collectivist idea that group security is more important than individual rights."

That lawyers have a stake in the present system is manifest. There are estimates that accident litigation now accounts for 65 to 80 per cent of the civil cases tried in U.S. courts each year and produces half the income of American lawyers. The Keeton-O'Connell plan would eliminate about 95 per cent of that business.

The existence of the plan and the controversy it has touched off in the industry have started a search for other alternatives. That search would be spurred by any government investigation.

James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is ill.

HOPE (ARR) STAR, Printed by Offset New Progress in Genetic Research Is Reported by the March of Dimes

DOCTORS AND NURSES with their small patients—and the patients' genetic charts showing chromosome abnormalities—at the March of Dimes-sponsored Birth Defects Center at the University of Tennessee Memorial Research Center and Hospital, Knoxville, Tenn.

March of Dimes research scientists during 1967 reported progress in pinpointing causes of two major classes of birth defects.

New blood-testing techniques may show the extent and nature of birth defects in the children of women who contracted seemingly mild infections during pregnancy.

Progress is also being made in testing human cells to determine carriers of certain rare defects and to find out how those defects are passed from generation to generation.

Dr. Charles A. Alford is testing babies born at the University of Alabama Medical Center by a new technique of determining the level of a blood protein called IgM. A high level indicates that the baby has been infected in the womb. Dr. B. H. Kean and associates will launch a similar program of testing obstetric cases admitted to the lying-in branch of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center for laboratory evidence of toxoplasmosis, a parasite that often causes brain defects and blindness in the baby. The infection is usually completely symptomless in adults.

At the University of Rochester, N. Y., Dr. James B. Han-shaw is testing babies born at the Strong Memorial Hospital for cytomegalovirus, another infection harmless to the mother but dangerous to her unborn offspring in causing damage to the brain, eye, liver, and other organs.

On the hereditary side of the birth defects problem the major development of 1967 is medicine's rapidly increasing ability to spot the "normal" carriers of genes for certain inherited diseases.

New biological test techniques make it possible to recognize the gene carriers of 67 out of 99 known "inborn errors of metabolism," which are inherited enzyme deficiencies often responsible for severe deformity or mental retardation in children. Dr. David V. Yung Hsia recently told a March of Dimes-sponsored Genetics Institute meeting.

Study of disease carriers provides scientists with sharper tools for understanding the subtleties of inherited deficiencies, said Dr. Hsia. Detecting disease carriers also provides geneticists with useful information on how genetic traits are inherited, he added.

Chemical differences among carriers of the same disease, for example, may reveal that more than one gene is involved in the disease process. Identification of carriers simplifies calculation of how frequently the disease-producing gene occurs among different populations.

All this information, says Dr. Hsia, takes much of the guesswork out of genetic counseling. A simple test performed on persons of high-risk populations—either relatives of a person with a heritable disease or "members" of a population groups having a high disease incidence—may tell whether they do, in fact, carry the disease and, if so, what the likelihood is of transmitting it to their children.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Bonanza," the NBC Western that gallops along smartly at the head of the television pack, is a series that doesn't cause much excited morning-after talk, but the folks keep tuning it in, year after year.

The most recent episode was a good example of the series' shrewd style. There was the important emphasis on a story that could be played as a period costume drama or a contemporary tale with nothing more than a few changes of sets and references. There was a bit of gun-slinging, some fist-waving — all familiar background of the legendary Wild West. And there was that nice Cartwright family, always on the side of law, order, country and motherhood.

The work of the series is spread among the three stars of the show. Sunday night's episode belonged to Lorne Greene, the white-haired daddy of the clan.

The difficulty was salt. All the ranchers were losing their stock because the cattle had no salt. And they had no salt because the salt dealer had died and his niece, a city girl with funny ideas about making money, planned to hold out for the highest bidder.

Then a nasty rancher wanted to pay an enormous price for all the salt. But at the last minute, good Ben Cartwright outbid him on behalf of all the ranchers. Then followed the inevitable shoot-out in which the nasty rancher was, of course, killed. And so was the man the city girl loved.

The lesson in all this was about greed and a demonstration that money doesn't necessarily bring happiness or love.

It is a soothing show to watch. It is predictable and right always prevails. The most that ever happens to the Cartwrights is that they are occasionally winged by a bullet. ABC will skip its intensive coverage, much as it lives, of the Winter Olympic Games with the opening ceremonies at 8:15 A.M. EST Tuesday. The program will come from Grenoble, France, by satellite. The work is going all-out, using 40 cameras, helicopters and a team of some 300 persons to cover the skating and skiing. It plans to devote some 27 hours to the games—much more than it expects to offer during its coverage of U.S. political conventions next August.

CBS and ABC have announced dates for more dramatic special.

Michael Cassio's 1955 Broadway hit, "A Hatful of Rain," will be a two-hour ABC program on March 3. It will star Sandy Dennis, Peter Falk and Herschel Bernardi.

Tad Mosell's "Secrets," an original drama, will be the fourth "CBS Playhouse" production of the season, to be broadcast on May 15. The third in the series, Robert Crea's "My Father and My Mother," comes along on Feb. 13.

Begin the new year by paying all your bills, and the bank will be on your neck with a scream that you're hideously overdrawn.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! this newspaper.

GOOD PARENTS CAN'T AVOID FEELING GUILTY

Dear Helen: I've been feeling so guilty all morning I just have to pour it out. Me and my sharp temper and quick tongue. How could I be so cruel?

Our 13-year-old daughter is industrious and willing. It sounds unbelievable, but she loves to clean house and she does a fine job. We appreciate her and tell her so.

Except this morning! Without asking me, she piled a load of what she thought was "junk" outside the garage. That junk turned out to be some prized papers her older sister had left lying around. Wouldn't you know: it rained last night and the papers got soaked. Keepsakes were ruined.

Result: chaos—and a mean, cutting lecture on the "ask first before you act" them from a mother who could now bite off her tongue.

I know how important it is to praise helpfulness and not choke off the vital spark of initiative with criticism or bossiness.

When a girl works her head off, unasked, and then gets bawled out for it, will the eagerness be knocked out of her?—GUILTY MOTHER

Dear Guilty: Not when she has a mother like you, who knows the importance of praise and appreciation but is human enough to explode, then hate herself afterward.

GOOD parents almost always feel guiltier about their "mean-ness" than the act warrants—and their children almost never hold it against them. When you have a close relationship—as I know you must—both sides makes allowances for occasional hot words. I'll bet your daughter had almost forgotten the incident by the time you wrote, and I'll also bet you made it up to her ten times over before your letter reached print. Right?—H.

Dear Helen: May I verbally shake the hand of the man who says he will no longer be bawled to the couch when his wife gets mad?

Husbands of the world unite: we pay for that bedroom set. If our furious fraus won't sleep with us, let THEM pick up their blankets and go. A night on the hard sofa should bring them back in line.

Besides, the psychology is better. It demeans a man to be bawled his bedroom privileges, and, if he insists, he's a bully. But if he pleads, "Baby, won't you please come home?" he shows his wife how much he misses her. So she trots back where she belongs.—SMART

Dear Smart: Good thinking. Let me know how your theory works in practice, and let's hope you don't write your next letter from the sofa!—H.

Dear Helen: My best friend is engaged to a girl who is stepping out on him. She says it's just because she is lonely, but he has only been in the Service a month. She also says this new guy is "just fascination." Yeah: he was in prison for armed robbery—the rape charges were dropped—and he's on parole but still carrying a gun.

My friend is sincere, comes from a wealthy family, makes friends in a minute, but he's knocked cold by this dame. He wants to marry her in February, before he goes to Viet Nam. My parents, my wife and friends all say, "Keep out of the fire or you'll get burned," but it's right to let my best buddy walk into marriage with a girl who probably won't be true to him? Just answer with one word: Should I quack to him, or shuddup?—G.F.

Dear G: QUACK!—H.

New Mexico Loses to Arizona

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
In the course of Arizona's basketball game with New Mexico Saturday night, Dick Root suffered a cut jaw, a chipped tooth and a mild concussion.

His substitute, Gordon Lindstrom, fared a little better. He left the game with just a cut over his eye.

New Mexico, obviously was not prepared to give up its 17-game win streak and fourth-place Associated Press ranking without a battle.

But when the game was over, so was the Lobos' perfect record: Arizona won 69-68.

New Mexico's Greg Howard was thrown out of the game for unsportsmanlike conduct after inflicting Root's injuries with 15 minutes left in the game. Mike Kordik scored 24 points for Arizona and picked off nine rebounds.

And in another basketball game that turned into a boxing match at times, Marquette beat DePaul 58-53.

Bob Zorich of DePaul and Pat Smith of Marquette were both tossed out of the game for throwing punches after DePaul's Ken Warzynski had received an elbow in the eye.

Al McGuire, the Marquette coach, protested that DePaul Coach Ray Meyer had set up the fight to get Smith thrown out of the game. Meyer replied with a few choice comments of his own.

"I'm so burned up," he said, "I would like to discontinue this series."

Second-ranked UCLA easily beat hometown rival Southern California 101-67 behind Lew Alcindor's 32 points and Mike Warren's 18. Third-rated North Carolina won its 12th straight game, beating Maryland 73-67 with Larry Miller and Charlie Scott each scoring 17 points.

Tennessee, No. 6, won its 33rd straight home-court victory, stomping Mississippi 88-46. Vanderbilt, No. 7, was surprised by Florida 91-85. Neal Walk scored 35 points for Florida, which won its first game ever on the Vanderbilt court.

Eighth-ranked Columbia beat its major Ivy League competitor, downing Princeton 69-60 as Jim McMillan scored 32 points, 24 in the second half.

Tenth-ranked Kentucky beat Louisiana State 109-96 despite a 44-point output by Pete Maravich. Top-rated Houston, fifth-ranked St. Bonaventure and ninth-rated Duke were idle Saturday.

Army won its ninth straight game, beating Syracuse 95-75 with Steve Hunt scoring 32 points and Bill Schutsky throwing in 27. St. John's won a last-second decision from Niagara 74-73 as Calvin Murphy had 42 points for the losers.

Long Island University, No. 1 in the small-college poll, won its 14th straight, downing American University 67-64.

In games played Sunday, Xavier, Ohio, downed Georgetown, D.C., 78-68.

Then massed Marine, Navy, Air Force and Army bands marched down the fairway and played for the five-star general. Eisenhower stepped forward and shook hands with the officers.

Olympics Will Open Tuesday

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The 10th Winter Olympic Games open with their usual pomp and pageantry Tuesday with Gen. Charles DeGaulle among the 80,000 spectators but with the attention of the sports world on skier Jean-Claude Killy, figure skater Peggy Fleming and the darling king of the bobsledders, Eugenio Monti.

When the lavish ice and snow spectacle finally gets under way in earnest Wednesday, the main question marks of the games will ring the heads of these outstanding figures.

Can Killy, France's ice superman of the Alpine slopes, pull off a triple gold medal sweep as Austria's Toni Sailer did in 1956—or even win one of the events—under the pressure of competing before an idolatrous nation of fellow Frenchmen? Many contend he can't.

Can Miss Fleming, the 19-year-old ice darling from Colorado Springs, Colo., regain for America the women's figure skating supremacy lost as the result of a tragic airplane accident in Brussels that killed the cream of U.S. talent? She is rated a clinch.

Can Monti, the red-haired daredevil from Italy who has won nine world championships, finally win an Olympic gold in a sport in which he has been rated the best for years? He is heavily favored.

Some 1,500 athletes from 37 nations march into the huge temporary stadium in the lavish opening ceremonies, starting at 3 p.m. local time.

The French president, who will sit in a specially heated box, will officially declare the Games open during an extravaganza that will see 30,000 perfumed artificial roses rained on the crowd, parachutists drop from the sky and a blast of spectacular fireworks after lighting of the traditional flame.

After a swirling snow storm halted training and raised fears Saturday, the weather turned beautiful again Sunday and prospects were good for clear skies and cold temperatures. That's what the contestants want—and need.

Killy, 24, dark and handsome and rated the best of the world's Alpine skiers although he has experienced a mild slump this year, will face stern competition from Gerhard Nennig of Austria, Edmund Bruggman of Switzerland and America's one-two punch of Bill Kidd of Stowe, Vt., and Jim Heuga of Squaw Valley, Calif.

Nennig is favored in the downhill, starting with preliminary runs Wednesday, and Bruggman is rated best in the giant slalom. Killy's best hope appears to be in the giant slalom and slalom, where Kidd and Heuga are also strong.

"I don't think he can do it—the pressure on his will be too great," said Sailer, who will view the Olympics as a spectator.

Porkers Knock Off Mustangs

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas' Robert McKenzie sank both ends of a one-and-one free throw situation with five seconds remaining to lift the Razorbacks to a 70-68 victory over Southern Methodist here Saturday.

McKenzie broke a 66-66 tie 40 seconds earlier but Donnie Berg stuffed in a missed shot to tie the game again.

The Razorbacks are now in a second-place tie with Texas in the Southwest Conference race. McKenzie, Arkansas' leading scorer with 22 points, connected on seven of 10 field goal attempts in the first half as the Razorbacks gained a 34-31 half-time lead. Arkansas trailed by as much as eight points during the first half.

Three Teams Tied for the AIC Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Come Tuesday night and a minimum of two teams will be tied for the lead in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball race.

Arkansas College, Henderson and Southern State are currently in a three-way tie for first but Arkansas College hosts Henderson Tuesday night.

Harding scrambled the race Friday night by defeating Arkansas College 67-61. The loss left AC with a 9-3 record, the same as Henderson and Southern State. Harding is one game back at 8-4.

Southern State, currently the hottest team in the league with eight straight conference victories, plays Arkansas Tech Tuesday night at Russellville and Ouachita Saturday night at Arkadelphia. Tech and OUA are in a fifth place tie with Arkansas A&M with 6-6 records.

Arkansas College faces Arkansas A&M at Monticello Friday night. Henderson hosts State College Saturday in its only other conference game.

College of the Ozarks stayed hot in the second half and defeated Little Rock University 100-79 Saturday night at Clarksville. LRU led 49-47 at the half.

Quarry Wins Over Spencer by Knockout

By JIM CHURCH
OAKLAND (AP) — After less than three years of professional fighting, Jerry Quarry finds himself within one bout of obtaining boxing's biggest prize — the heavyweight championship.

The 22-year-old Los Angeles better earned the right to meet Jimmy Ellis for the title by stopping Thad Spencer at 2:57 of the 12th and final round Saturday.

The fight was the second semifinal in the World Boxing Association's tournament to find a successor for Cassius Clay, stripped of his title by the WBA after refusing to be drafted into military service.

Ellis, of Louisville, Ky., winner over Oscar Bonavena in the other semifinal, was a ringside spectator and said he was not surprised by the outcome.

Spencer, 24, of San Francisco, and Quarry each received $75,000. Promoter Don Chargin announced the gate as $115,112 for the nationally televised bout.

Quarry, knowing he was ahead after he floored Spencer in the closing seconds of the fourth and 10th rounds, finished with a flurry that staggered his heavier opponent. Referee Jack Downey stopped the fight.

Through the 11th Quarry, who weighed 193 to Spencer's 200½, was ahead on all three official cards.

Downey had it 7-6. Judges Dick Young and Rudy Ortega scored it 9-4 and 7-3, respectively. California rules give the winner of a round from one to five points and the lower nothing. The Associated Press had Quarry ahead 6-5.

"I knew I had it after the second knockdown," said Quarry. He had taunted Spencer in the ninth round, saying, "Dad, it's too late now."

Quarry, whose record is 26-1, 4 said he can beat Ellis. "But it should be a tougher fight. Ellis moves faster and hits faster."

"I had no rhythm," said the unmarked Spencer, who reached the semifinal by beating Ernie Terrell. "I couldn't get off my punches. I had no power at all."

Jockey Club Gives in to Demands

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The Oaklawn Jockey Club gave in Saturday to demands by the Arkansas Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association, thereby averting a possible boycott of Oaklawn Park's 50-day season which gets under way Friday.

The HBPA, which received 44.5 per cent of the track's ten per cent share of the mutual handle, demanded 46.5 per cent in both 1968 and 1969.

J. Sweeney Grant, general manager of Oaklawn Park, and Sam Lasey, president of the HBPA, announced that the agreement had been reached. Oaklawn had offered the horsemen 45.5 per cent.

Grant and Lasey also announced that the one per cent of the total amount to be distributed in purses for each of the next two years would go to the HBPA in compensation for services the organization renders.

The HBPA also said that fringe benefits, primarily the opening of Oaklawn's stable area three months in advance of the meeting, would be credited to the track as an additional ¼ of one per cent.

WINTER 'ANGLING'
Even though lakes and rivers are frozen and snow covered in the northern climes, fishermen having an urge to flex their casting arms can still do so and have fun in the process.

For the angler who received a new rod or reel for Christmas, here is a suggestion from the fishing experts at Mercury outboards for getting the "feel" of the new equipment before that first spring outing.

Place a bushel basket in the yard or driveway approximately fifty feet away. Using a rubber practice plug, try casting it into the basket. When you can "plug" the plug in the basket consistently, reduce the size of the target by substituting a pail. The target can continue to be made smaller by substituting a gallon can, quart can, etc.

Texarkanian Gets $2,200

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Miller Barber of Texarkana, Ark., collected $2,200 Sunday for his eleventh place tie in the $122,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Barber compiled a 90-hole total of 353 with rounds of 69-73-70-71-70. Arnold Palmer won the $20,000 first prize, defeating Deane Beman in a playoff.

If the entire family happen to be anglers, here's another winter activity that is guaranteed to delight one and all.

Have the kids trace outlines of fish in the snow in various sections of the back yard, making sure the outlines are as close as possible to actual size.

Each member of the family then take turns to see who can come closest to casting the "plug" right in front of these outlined "fishers."

Non-fishing neighbors may peer quizzically out of their windows, but in addition to being a fine winter pastime, these activities are also great practice, and practice is the one sure way of developing casting skills.

Not only does the skillful fisherman get more strikes and catch more fish, say the Mercury lads, but he also gains a certain amount of pleasure in making accurate casts.

Knicks Pour It on Celtics at Boston

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The New York Knicks poured it on the Boston Celtics in the first half of their first victory over the Celtics in a regular season game at Boston since Dec. 22, 1962.

"We won here in the playoffs last year, but you still might call it a long drought," New York Coach Red Holzman said. The Knicks had lost 25 straight National Basketball Association games in Boston except for the playoff triumph last season.

In other NBA games Sunday, Philadelphia drubbed San Francisco 141-117 to open up a 3½-game lead over second-place Boston in the Eastern Division. St. Louis edged Cincinnati 106-100, Detroit nipped Baltimore 117-115 and Los Angeles downed Seattle 137-131.

Anahelm whipped Houston 132-120, New Jersey nipped Kentucky 111-109, Minnesota trounced Pittsburgh 114-95, and New Orleans edged Denver 105-100 in the American Basketball Association.

Trailing by 20 points in the first half, the Knicks went to work and gradually cut the deficit on the hot shooting of Frazier and Bellamy. They pulled to within three points, then fell eight behind at the outset of the fourth quarter.

Bradley came off the bench to contribute three key baskets and a free throw as New York stormed from behind and then outscored the Celtics down the stretch.

Philadelphia broke open a close game in the third period and coasted home behind the scoring of Hal Greer, 29, and Chet Walker, 27. Wilt Chamberlain added 19 points to the Philadelphia attack and handed out 16 assists. Rudy LaRusso led San Francisco with 25.

Don Ohl sparked the St. Louis victory, scoring 12 of his 16 points in the fourth quarter. Len Wilkens led St. Louis with 20. Jerry Lucas scored 23 for Cincinnati, which played the final quarter without Oscar Robertson, who suffered a muscle pull. The Big O also scored 23.

Dave Bing put Detroit ahead 114-113 on a basket with 35 seconds left, and then Happy Hairston clinched it with two foul shots. Bing finished with 31 points and Hairston 27. Earl Monroe paced Baltimore with 35.

Jerry West poured in 43 points and Archie Clark 35 to top Los Angeles, which played without Elgin Baylor who has an injured foot. Tom Meschery and Walt Hazzard scored 28 and 26, respectively, for Seattle.

Boston edged New York 112-108, Philadelphia downed Baltimore 133-121, St. Louis beat Cincinnati 125-111 and Los Angeles outlasted San Diego 133-122 Saturday.

German Cars on Top of Racing Heap

By F. T. MACFEELEY
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If this isn't the year of the Porsche in international sports car racing, someone better step forward quickly with newer and faster machinery than they showed in the 24 Hours of Daytona season opener.

Porsche's 1-2-3 finish and disdainful gesture of giving five drivers turns in the winning car Sunday left no doubt that the durable German cars are on top of the heap heading into the 12-hour Sebring race March 23.

"We will have a slightly different car at Sebring," said Hans Herrmann of Germany who drove the second place car with Jo Siffert of Switzerland and also took a brief turn in the eventual winner. "It will be the same engine but a slightly shorter body."

Alfa Romeo of Italy, whose three small car entries at Daytona finished fifth, sixth and seventh, is reported ready to unveil a bigger, three-liter engine at Sebring.

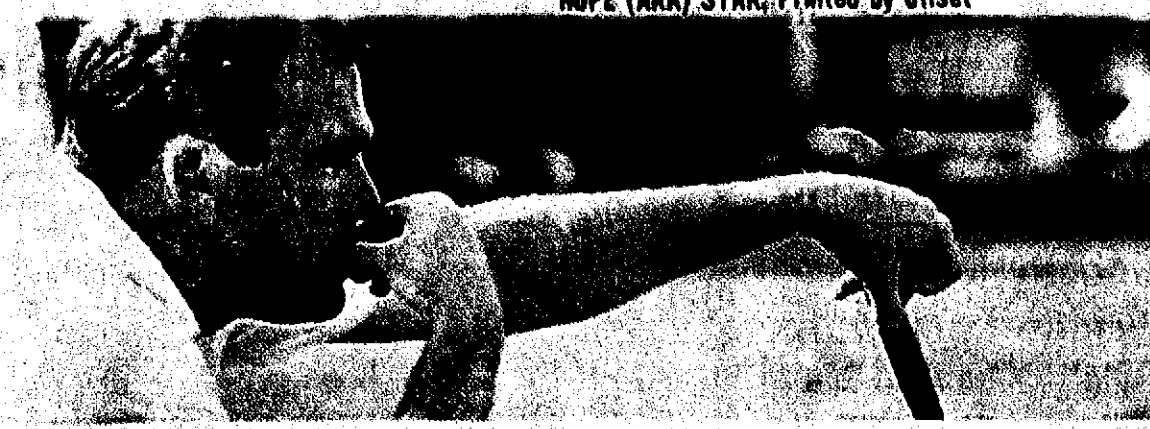

"We have always had competition," was Porsche manager Hueschke von Hanstein's reaction. "We are not afraid."

He admitted Porsche, too, is working on a larger engine than the 2.2-liter used in its three-car victory sweep. But it won't be ready for Sebring and maybe not for any of the races on this year's international schedule toward the manufacturer's championship.

Vic Elford, a 32-year-old Englishman, had the honor of starting and finishing the winning car.

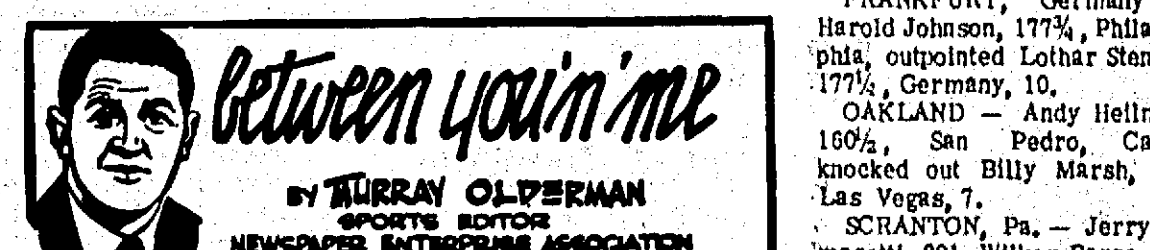

A pair of faster and bigger-engined GT-40s from England showed early speed. But one failed after four hours and the other after 15 hours.

The winning distance of

GIVE A PRO A CHANCE to concentrate for money and here's what you've got—the tops in baseball and football talent grinning and grunting around a golf course as they sharpen up their skills for the $30,000 Astrojet Golf Classic Feb. 16-18 at La Costa Country Club in California. John Brodie, 49ers quarterback (top) never checked an enemy defense closer than he does this putt. Paul Krueger, Redskins defensive back and last year's winner, watches his shot (upper left) with the same grimace as Willie Mays (lower right). Johnny Unitas (upper right) and Mickey Mantle simply whale away. And all over the course, you hear, "FORE!"

A Ford Mustang driven by Jerry Titus of Sherman Oaks, Calif., and Ronnie Bucknum of LaCanada, Calif., entered in the Trans-American division, finished fourth. 2,526.69 miles and speed of 106,697 miles an hour missed the 2,570.62 miles and 108,020 m.p.h. record set by the late Ken Miles and Lloyd Ruby in a Ford Mark 2 in 1966.

Grenoble a Go-Go

GRENOBLE, France—(NEA)—There is supposed to be a mountain at the end of every street in this fourth-century bastion of the Dauphin, an Alpine region of southeastern France. There is also a gendarme, French version of cop, and a taxi-driver with a cigarette dangling from the end of his mouth—and now, more likely than not, a pretty young thing in a red bunny fur packet and tight stretch pants.

She's one of the 350 official hostesses gathered into Grenoble for the 10th staging of the Winter Olympics, all properly trained in the etiquette of the program by Mlle. Solange Catry, chief stewardess of Air France on detached service to the cause of international good will.

Staging an Olympics is performance art because anybody who's got the idea that Grenoble is where the action is better get re-oriented. It's only where Mademoiselle Hostesse hangs her miniskirt.

Actually, Grenoble is a little industrial city tucked into the Alps, where the rivers Isere and Drac meet and where the locals are still prepared to evacuate quickly to the crumbling fortresses that dot the hillside over the old part of town to ward off the hordes of invaders.

It has been called a French Peoria—no disparagement intended, because it has a big university (more than 15,000 students), a fine reputation for scientific and industrial research, and is a good place to buy the little lady gloves.

There is one go-go joint a couple of blocks from the Place Victor Hugo. There is also a Place de la Bastille and a Place de Verdun, so you can't quite forget you're in France.

THE MINISKIRT gawking isn't too good. Find a miniskirt and you'll find a Parisienne. The locals are much too modest and sedate for such ostentation. Almost all of Mlle. Catry's hostesses have been imported for the Games and speak many languages. No, Jacques, there is no universal language—at least, for the duration, which is two weeks. Solange has knelt curfew for 10 p.m.

Of course, it's different at the ski resorts in the environs, where the greatest attention centers, and the biggest diversion is watching the stretch pants squiggle. It's worth the many hairpin turns up the mountains to Chamrousse for the Olympic downhill and slalom events or to Alpe d'Huez for the bobsled. Both are to the east. On the western side of Grenoble lies St. Nizier, the ski jumping site.

All also specialize in apres-ski activities. In Grenoble, the concentration is on ice—ice hockey, figure skating, speed skating. If a man's taste runs to Scotch on ice, he's well-heeled. It also runs to three bucks a shot.

Bustling Grenoble, with its quarter of a million inhabitants, is also the touch-off point for the party, in the temporary stadium seating 60,000 for the opening day ceremonies, with 2,300 contestants from 33 nations on parade.

THERE WEREN'T one-seventh that many athletes on hand for the first Winter Olympic Games in Chamonix, France, 44 years ago. In fact, the number has more than doubled since the last snow and ice fiesta in Innsbruck, Austria, four years ago, when 1,111 competitors paraded.

The whole concept of the Games has changed since the Baron Pierre de Coubertin, also a Frenchman, laid down the modern Olympic creed: "The important thing in the Olympic Games is not winning but taking part."

For this version, Roger Vadim has been hired as chief of protocol for the Olympic Village. To ensure, "that the athletes enjoy the leisure so important to them."

M. Vadim, it should be noted, is a specialist in entertainment. He was once married to Brigitte Bardot and is currently the husband of Miss Jane Fonda.

Daniels Leads Muskies to Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There's nothing unlucky about the number 13 for the Minnesota Muskies. Not when Mel Daniels is making with the 84s.

Daniels scored 24 points and pulled down 24 rebounds Sunday night as the Muskies beat Pittsburgh 114-95 and moved within one-half game of the Pipers, who lead the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

Charlie Williams led Pittsburgh with 27 points, including four long three-point baskets in the first half. But the Muskies led all the way, opening up a 20-point lead early in the fourth period from which the Pipers couldn't recover.

In other ABA games, New Jersey edged Kentucky 111-109, Anaheim topped Houston 132-120, and New Orleans beat Denver 105-100.

On Saturday Oakland beat Houston 119-111 in overtime. In the National Basketball Association Sunday, New York edged Boston 110-108, Philadelphia crushed San Francisco 141-117, St. Louis took Cincinnati 106-100, Detroit eased past Baltimore 117-115 and Los Angeles beat Seattle 137-131.

Pittsburgh played without Connie Hawkins, the club's leading scorer, who is out with a blood clot in his left leg.

New Jersey snapped Kentucky's four-game winning streak at home. Stu Johnson scored all his 11 points in a seven-minute surge in the final period. Lavern Tart led the Americans' scorers with 34 points and Darel Carrier and Louie Dampier had 25 each for Kentucky.

Steve Chubin scored 34 points to lead Anaheim to within 1½ games of fourth-place Oakland in the Western Division. Les Selvaige had 27 and Ben Warley added 24. Willie Somerset led Houston with 28.

Red Robbins scored 31 points in New Orleans's victory over Denver as the Buccaneers opened up a 3½-game lead in the Western Division. New Orleans led 97-84 only to have the Rockets close the gap to 100-97.

Larry Brown then converted four consecutive free throws in the last 30 seconds to clinch matters. Brown finished with 21 points while Larry Jones was high for Denver with 18.

Miszkuk Stuns Toronto in Hockey Play

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
It took defenseman John Miszkuk 96 National Hockey League games to fashion his first two big league goals but only 20 minutes to notch his next two.

Miszkuk scored twice in the first period Sunday night and Philadelphia went on to stun Toronto 4-1 for a weekend sweep of established teams by the expansionist Flyers. On Saturday, Philadelphia knocked off Chicago 5-3.

In Sunday's other games, New York ended Montreal's run at the NHL record book by blanking the Canadiens 3-0, halting a 12-game winning streak and 16-game unbeaten skid. Boston nipped Detroit 5-4, Minnesota shaded Oakland 4-3 and Chicago dropped Los Angeles 5-3.

In Saturday's action, Montreal turned back Los Angeles 5-1, Detroit pounded Minnesota 8-1, St. Louis tripped Oakland 4-1, Pittsburgh and Toronto played to a 3-3 tie and New York and Boston finished in a 3-3 standoff.

The weekend sweep gave the Flyers, leaders in the NHL's new West Division, three victories in the last four starts against the established teams and left Punch Imlach, coach of the Maple Leafs, with some unpleasant thoughts.

Imlach's Leafs dropped into a fourth-place tie with New York, managing only one of a possible four points in their weekend games against expansion teams. Miszkuk, who scored once in 47 NHL games over three seasons with Detroit and Chicago before being drafted by the Flyers, and once earlier this season, doubled his career output against Toronto's Johnny Bower. His first goal came while killing a penalty and the second was a 50-footer which bounced over Bower's stick.

Doug Favell kicked out 31 shots in the last two periods to preserve the victory—his second straight over the Leafs. Ed Giacomin's fifth shutout of the season and Vic Stenlund's first goal after missing 11 games with a dislocated right shoulder, led the Rangers past the Canadiens.

Hadfield's goal, on his first turn on the ice, broke a scoreless tie in the second period and Rod Gilbert and Jean Ratelle added insurance tallies in the final 20 minutes.

It was Montreal's first loss since Christmas night and left the Canadiens two shy of Boston's 38-year-old NHL record of 14 consecutive victories.

John McKenzie snapped an eight-game scoring slump with a three-goal hat trick that lifted the Bruins past Detroit. The victory halted a six-game winless string for Boston. It was McKenzie's second three-goal night of the season.

Doug Mohns rammed in a pair of goals and Bobby Hull scored his 36th of the season as Chicago upended Los Angeles. The victory moved the Black Hawks two points back of the first-place Canadiens in the East race.

Minnesota opened a five-point gap on LA and St. Louis, tied for third in the west, by whipping Oakland. Jean Paul Poirier's third-period goal was the clincher for the North Stars.

Jim: "Victor Mollo has included you as one of the 35 bridge immortals in his book of that name."

Oswald: "I read it. Actually he brought in all the bridge playing Jacobys with a picture of Mary Zita, Judy, you and me."

Jim: "Victor showed a lot of courage when he picked out only 35 players, but he showed a lot of tact by saying nothing but nice things about his 35. In addition, he showed their favorite hands and many will be of interest to our readers."

Oswald: "Here is one played by Walter Avarelli, a member of Italy's famous and most successful blue team. Avarelli admits he is a pessimist when it comes to expecting good breaks. Many players would have tried to make all the tricks after a club opening. Avarelli saw that the optimistic approach might cost the contract. He made an unusual safety play at trick one to insure success, provided all five trumps didn't show up in one hand."

Jim: "The six of clubs was opened. East played the king. The play for seven would be to win with the ace, ruff a club, draw trumps and go after diamonds. This would cost him his contract because East would get in with the queen of diamonds, lead a club to his partner and set the hand with two heart tricks."

Oswald: "Avarelli's safety play was a simple one indeed. He just let East hold the first club. He ruffed the second high in dummy, drew trumps and lost a finesse to the queen of diamonds. East could do nothing better than to take his ace of hearts and save the overtrick."

Jim: "It should be noted that Avarelli was playing for International Match Points, not match points, and wanted to make his contract, not overtricks."

Check Seat Carefully For Child's Car Safety

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Since more children die in auto accidents than from contagious diseases and all other accidents combined, the Physicians for Automotive Safety looked into the causative factors. Their surprising conclusion was that some of the special seats now marketed for use in autos by infants and children are worse than nothing. Less than one infant in 1,000 receives effective crash protection while riding in an auto.

The observers found that most car seats for tots are flimsy and are not securely fastened to the car. Not only do they allow the child to be thrown about in the car in a crash but the seats themselves may be hurled against other occupants of the car. In the false belief that the car seat will protect the infant, many parents attach these devices to the front seat of the auto although the child would be safer (but not safe enough) if it were attached to the rear seat.

Seats that are anchored securely to the car and hold the infant firmly in the seat are now available. Following a crash, the child can be freed in two seconds. If you want to insure the safety of your child, make sure the device you purchase will do the job expected of it.

Q—Is it important for preschool children to get a daily dose of vitamins or cod liver oil?

A—No child who gets a balanced diet needs vitamin supplements. His diet should supply his daily requirements. This is especially true if, as is the case in most cities, the milk has vitamins A and D added.

Q—My small son was severely scalded about two months ago. Where the burns healed, he has scarring. Can I put anything on them to mask these scars?

A—Effective masking cosmetics are available in any shade required to match the surrounding normal skin. Later he may want to have the scars treated by surgical planing with a wire brush.

Q—My son, now 4, was transfused five times at birth because of Rh incompatibility. Could the adult blood given to him affect him now or is he producing his own blood? Should we have his blood checked regularly?

A—Since the average white blood cell lives for only eight to 12 days and the average

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex. H. Washburn
Rate of Conversion
to Offset Printing
Grows in Arkansas

Writes a reporter friend on a big-city newspaper: "I never cease to be amazed at the quality of photo reproduction you offset fellows can achieve."

What he writes is less a tribute to small-town photographic skill and more an appraisal of the capabilities of the offset tide which is sweeping today's American press.

The tide is running strong here in Arkansas. I have before me the 1966 edition of the Arkansas Press Association's Rate Directory, which arrived this morning. It lists as offset-produced 6 of the state's 30 dailies, or 20 per cent; which compares with 4 out of 30, or 13.3 per cent, a year ago.

The same tide is noted among the weekly press. Arkansas now has 31 offsetters out of a total of 128 weekly or semi-weekly papers, or 24.4 per cent; the figures a year ago were 25 out of 130, or 19.2 per cent.

Offset is a relatively ancient art, derived from lithography, a composite from the Greek "lithos" or stone, meaning literally, picture on stone. A picture or bit of writing was drawn on stone, water was sprayed on the portions to be shown in white, and since oil and water won't mix (ink is an oil) when the ink was applied only the dark portions accepted it; you had contrast — and a picture!

The offset process had been known for many years, but adapting it to high-speed newspaper production required the development of a rotary offset printing press. This was invented at Grand Prairie, Texas, in the early 1930s — and it started today's newspaper revolution.

First daily paper in Arkansas to convert to offset was the Rogers Daily News. Second was the Springfield Daily News, and the El Dorado News-Times was third. Hope Star was the fourth, Dec. 29, 1965. Last year saw two more added to the list, making a total of six, the Conway Log Cabin Democrat and the Searcy Daily Citizen.

The offset tide has run strongest among the small and middle-class papers, for an obvious reason: Small-city newspapering is more or less a do-it-yourself business. Usually the person who takes a picture sees it all the way through to the press. Disgusted with haphazard results he looks for an improved system — and turns to offset.

The results speak for themselves. Today's Star represents a fortune spent in new equipment — an installation and testing job that required two years, ending only last October.

The same story is continuing throughout America — and nowhere faster or with better results than right here in Arkansas.

LBJ Concedes Budget Cuts in School Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, conceding that his budget will dedicate cutbacks in some federal education programs, asked Congress today nevertheless to authorize some new efforts, including a "Stay in School" program.

In a special message, Johnson said: "My recommendations are tailored to enable us to meet our most urgent needs, while deferring less important programs and expenditures."

To meet what he sees as the most urgent needs, Johnson said that "several programs must be reduced or deferred." As an example, he said the federal government can cut spending on construction of facilities and the buying of equipment.

"But," he said, "many of our urgent educational programs which directly affect the young people of America cannot be deferred. For the cost—the human cost of delay—is intolerable."

The President recommended that a new stay in school program to cost $30 million in the first year be set up to help educators "turn potential dropouts into high school graduates."

The chief executive also called for several other new laws, some designed to consolidate programs and eliminate red tape.

Scene of Pueblo Incident

U.S. Apology to N. Korea Will Be Made If It's Essential

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara appear to be paving the way for a possible U.S. apology to North Korea if that's essential to recover the captured Pueblo vessel and her crew.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department seems moving toward a head-on collision with Congress over whether the seizure of such U.S. spy ships as the Pueblo can be prevented by military action.

The possibilities of a U.S. apology to North Korea and of a Pentagon-congressional battle surfaced Sunday when Rusk and McNamara appeared on NBC's radio-television show "Meet the Press," in a joint interview reportedly suggested by President Johnson.

The major purpose of the national television performance of the two top Cabinet members was undoubtedly to influence domestic public opinion. Both men stressed Johnson's Friday news conference declaration that the Communists in Vietnam had failed militarily in their attacks on Saigon and other cities.

But the comments Rusk and McNamara offered on the Pueblo incident also indicated parallel diplomatic and political purposes.

Diplomatic authorities later agreed it must have been a bid to let North Korea know that if an apology would help win release of the Pueblo crew, then an apology might very well be available.

McNamara was asked whether he could say flatly that the Pueblo had not at any time entered U.S. waters.

Mostel May Well Be the Happiest Fat Man in All America

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Zero Mostel may well be the happiest fat man in America. He is 235 pounds of living joy.

The secret of his happiness? "Getting lost," he said, "being involved in something you can't understand."

"Mystery is the main thing in life. Why should you have to understand everything?"

Regarded by many as one of the most versatile performers in the history of the theater, the pudgy-faced, stringy-haired actor spends more time at his first love—painting—than he does on stage or before the cameras.

Since completing his 11th film, "The Producers," in which he stars as a zany and impecunious Broadway showman, Zero has been contentedly spending his days working alone at his easel in a third-floor walkup studio in Manhattan's wholesale flower district.

"Artists like to work in this area because the stuff florists spray on their flowers keeps down vermin," Mostel said. "This was George Gershwin's first studio when he was a Tin Pan Alley king. I've had it now for years."

Zero, who never does anything quite like anyone else, bore little resemblance to the public's idea of an artist. He wore a brilliant pair of blue corduroy pants and a paint-splattered blue work shirt worn from many washings.

"I'm dirty," admitted Zero contentedly. "I love these old shirts. I have about 10 of them. They seem to last forever."

Although he once taught art in his youth and is recognized as a genuinely talented painter, Mostel is somewhat unorthodox in his technique.

"I like to fool around with new materials and tools," he said. "I don't stick to brushes. I also use dental picks, spoons and finger scratches to get a particular effect."

Variety has been the spice of Zero's life. He feels that the greatest problem facing creative American artists in any field is the public's insistence that they be typed.

"People tend to want to identify you with one thing, perhaps because that helps them to feel they can understand you," he remarked. "That's all right if you can only do one thing. But I like to do a number of different things."

"I don't like to do just one thing at a time either. Before I start on a film, I prepare about 10 to 12 big canvases so I'll have something to come back to. And while I'm doing the film, or appearing in a play, before I fall asleep at night I make dozens and dozens of preliminary drawings for my paintings."

Mostel won three Tony awards in a row for his appearances in "Rhinoceros," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," and "Fiddler on the Roof." But chattering at his productions are to his ego, he dislikes long runs.

Says U.S. to Admit Pueblo Trespassed

By K. C. HWANG
Associated Press Writer
SEOUL (AP) — The United States agreed today to admit that the USS Pueblo trespassed in North Korean territorial waters, and the North Koreans agreed to return all 83 crewmen of the intelligence-gathering ship, the Seoul newspaper Chosun Ilbo said.

Quoting an unidentified South Korean government source, Chosun Ilbo said the agreement was reached at the third secret meeting of U.S. and North Korean representatives held at Panmunjom, where the Military Armistice Commission meets in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

The report said the United States agreed to a Communist demand that it sign a note of apology admitting that the Pueblo violated North Korean waters.

U.S. officials in Seoul said they could neither confirm nor deny the report.

Earlier South Korean sources had reported the meeting at Panmunjom today and said the North Koreans offered to release the body of one dead American and "several" injured if the United States would admit the Pueblo was trespassing.

A Seoul radio station said three helicopters were waiting at the conference building at Panmunjom in expectation of the release. A source at the 121st U.S. Army Evacuation Hospital 15 miles west of Seoul denied the report.

Farm Bureau Plans Drive for Members

Hempstead County Farm Bureau will kick off its annual campaign for members Feb. 5, according to Membership Chairman Ralph Montgomery.

Membership workers will meet Feb. 5 at 8 a.m. at the Diamond Cafe and proceed in teams to persuade farmers to join.

Plans call for the bulk of the county Farm Bureau's membership work to be completed by Feb. 27, 1968.

Mr. Montgomery reported that 495 members enrolled in response to the mail solicitation late last year, meaning that only 355 must be added by personal contact for the county to attain its goal of 750.

"The people of Arkansas are scandalized by what they have recently learned about our penitentiary system," the governor said in a speech to a joint session of the Arkansas Legislature, which convened in special session today.

The remarks were in a prepared text.

"The solution is not an easy one," the governor said. "It involves first a definition of the system that we will have; second, it involves money; third, it involves sound planning."

Fulbright Sticking to Stand on War in Spite of Opposition Threat

(Editor's Note: Harry Kelly of the AP Special Assignments Team in Washington reported last spring on the political troubles Sen. J. W. Fulbright had created for himself by his opposition to the Vietnam war. In this article, Kelly takes a new look at the situation.)

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, who hasn't had a serious election challenge since Arkansas sent him to the Senate 24 years ago, is threatened by a Marine hawk who contends Fulbright's opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam is delaying the day of victory.

Fulbright's response: Plead his case to the voters and field their roughest questions.

The Senate's No. 1 dove isn't retreating from his criticism of President Johnson's Vietnam policy; in fact, he's telling his homefolk he doubts the administration now will accept anything less than victory in the war.

Fulbright's possible opponent in the August Democratic primary is former Gov. Sid McMath, a major general in the Marine Corps reserve who has two Marine officer sons—one in Vietnam.

McMath, now a Little Rock lawyer, is making an average of three speeches a week across the state, where hawkish sentiment is strong, contending Fulbright's criticism "is holding up victory" by receiving "undue attention."

Many observers see evidence that Fulbright is gaining strength through an increasing number of personal appearances. In each, he sets out his views briefly then invites questions from the audience.

His constituents respond with alacrity. They probe his stand on Vietnam; they prod him about his role in steering the Gulf of Tonkin resolution through the Senate; they worriedly inquire about the North Korean seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo, and they bluntly ask the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee if his dissent is indeed prolonging the Vietnam war.

"I don't think it has any sigificance," he said.

Push Started During Moves for Peace

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says North Vietnam helped mount the major Communist offensive in South Vietnam knowing U.S. air attacks were being curtailed during exploratory peace talks.

The United States therefore must conclude, Rusk said, that the North Vietnamese "are not seriously interested in the present time in talking about peaceful settlements."

His statement that the United States "exercised some restraint" in its bombing of the North came during a joint radio-television appearance with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who left open the possibility of new American troop deployments to the war zone.

The program was NBC's "Meet the Press," doubled to an hour's length for Sunday's joint interview, which reportedly was suggested by President Johnson.

Both Rusk and McNamara said they believe—but are not "1,000 per cent sure," in Rusk's words—that the USS Pueblo did not intrude in the territorial waters of North Korea.

And McNamara said the United States did not send aid to the Pueblo when the intelligence vessel was captured Jan. 23 because it was impossible initially to tell what was happening; there was no contingency plan specifically covering the ship.

Revival at 1st Assembly Draws 500

Revival services continue at First Assembly of God, with the Rev. Lindell Ballinger as the Evangelist.

Rev. Willhite, pastor of the church, reports that the total attendance at the meeting last week was about 500.

"Mrs. Ballinger has contributed much to the services with her wonderful music on the Cordovox. The Cordovox is a most unusual instrument. It is an accordion with an electronic organ built into it. The music which pours out of it under the talented hands of Mrs. Ballinger is magnificent," said Pastor Willhite.

The revival has been announced to continue through February 11, nightly, except Saturday, at 7:30.

Marines Drive Back the Enemy

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines drove back 200 to 300 North Vietnamese troops who attacked a hill overlooking the northwest frontier fortress at Khe Sanh today. Meanwhile, street fighting continued in Saigon, Hue and other targets of the Viet Cong offensive against the cities.

It was too early to know whether the 3½-hour ground assault on Hill 861A, accompanied by a heavy artillery attack on other positions at Khe Sanh, was the start of the expected North Vietnamese offensive along the northern frontier. But the U.S. Command disclosed it had moved 3,500 paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division to the northern sector "to be prepared for any contingency."

Since the first of the year, the U.S. Command has shifted about 15,000 Army troops to the northern sector to back up 40,000 Marines already there. Intelligence officers estimate at least 35,000 North Vietnamese troops are massed in the frontier region.

tacked a Marine company holding Hill 861A with Bangalore torpedoes, explosive charges and bazooka-type rockets. The hill is a bald patch of scarred earth that dominates the northwestern approach to the Khe Sanh Marine base three miles away.

AP correspondent John T. Wheeler, with the Marines at Khe Sanh, reported that the Leathernecks crushed the attack with the help of artillery and jet air strikes that sent the Communist assault waves reeling back.

Six North Vietnamese bodies were found inside the company's perimeter and about 150 more were just outside. The Marines also reported capturing two prisoners and 64 weapons. The company defending the hill reported seven Marines killed and 24 wounded.

Wheeler said that during the battle Communist gunners fired more than 300 rounds of rockets and artillery on the main Khe Sanh base 16 miles below the demilitarized zone, the airstrip and other hill positions three to six miles from the strip. Only a handful of men were reported wounded in these attacks.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon said the assault "looks like a probing attack to test our defenses."

U.S. B52 bombers flew six raids Sunday and today in support of the 5,000 Marines at Khe Sanh, who face an estimated 20,000 North Vietnamese soldiers.

U.S. commanders feel that if the Communists can push through Khe Sanh, they could move on through the Quang Tri and Cam Lo Valleys 30 miles into Quang Tri, capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province.

The U.S. Command said the Communists have lost 16,976 men killed since launching the cities campaign last Tuesday.

Free-Spending U.S. Tourists May Feel Bite of Special Tax

By EDMUND LeBreton
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The wide-ranging, free-spending U.S. tourist is a major target as Congress is urged to plug at least partially the outflow of dollars that reached some $3.6 billion last year.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler heads a delegation of officials to appear before the House Ways and Means Committee today seeking additional legislation for parts of President Johnson's program to cut the payments imbalance by $3 billion.

For some measures, such as restrictions on investment abroad, the authority is already on the books. But the administration is seeking legal tools to trim the tourist outflow by $500 million.

Details of the proposal have been guarded, but it is believed to include an excise tax on tickets for overseas travel and a tax on tourist spending, probably with an exemption intended to help low-budget travelers like students and teachers, and probably exempting travel in the Western Hemisphere.

Some tax arrangements intended to stimulate exports and discourage imports also may be proposed.

Congress' initial reaction seemed to be that the travel tax would be a second dose of bitter medicine after the still unswallowed proposal for an income tax hike.

But Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has repeatedly shelved the tax increase while demanding more spending cuts, has shown himself more favorable at least to the principle of the balance-of-payments program.

"I don't think there is any question but that some action will be taken in this area by the committee," the Arkansas Democrat told an Indiana audience last week.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford was not so encouraging in a weekend speech at Duke University, Durham, N.C.

"The proposal to restrict travel may run into trouble in Congress but it is too early to tell," he said, calling these restrictions and those on investment abroad "alien to a free society and destructive of free intercourse in goods and persons between nations."

and an attempt to send air support might have generated "a bloody battle" with North Korean planes.

McNamara said it seems clear no U.S. action could have saved the Pueblo and her 83-man crew from capture.

South Korean sources meanwhile reported American and North Korean negotiators meeting at Panmunjom may have made "substantial headway" toward release of the crew members.

In Washington, a leading Republican foreign affairs spokesman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., accused the government of hoodwinking the public about the severity of the Viet Cong offensive in South Vietnam.

But Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he was inclined to agree with the view that the Viet Cong attacks were the guerrilla group's "death rattle," adding: "They wouldn't do it unless they were desperate."

Rusk said the bombing limitation occurred in recent days as the United States sought clarification of North Vietnam's statement it would talk peace if all bombing were permanently halted.

President Johnson previously had offered—in what has become known as his San Antonio formula—to stop the bombing if this would lead promptly to productive discussions and provided the Communists wouldn't take military advantage of the cessation.

"They (Hanoi) know these explorations are going on," Rusk said, "because they were party to them."

The bombing was restricted particularly around the sensitive areas of Hanoi and Haiphong, he added. "Again, Hanoi knows this," Rusk said.

"We have not had a pause in the traditionally accepted sense," Rusk continued, "but we have limited the bombing at certain points in order to make it somewhat easier to carry forward these explorations, so that particularly difficult incidents would not interrupt them."

This probably referred to the chance of diplomacy-souring, inadvertent bomb damage to Hanoi's population areas or Soviet ships in Haiphong harbor.

Despite the limitation "they participated in laying on this major offensive," Rusk declared.

"I think it would be foolish not to draw a political conclusion from this—that they are not seriously interested at the present time in talking about peaceful settlements, or in exploring the problem connected with the San Antonio formula," he said.

In essence, Rusk said, the U.S. must assume the recent offensives against South Vietnamese cities "are an answer" to administration peace moves.

McNamara contended the enemy assaults against Saigon and other South Vietnamese population centers were a military failure.

"There's no question but what the people of the cities and towns of South Vietnam have been dealt a heavy blow," McNamara said.

"But at the same time we know that they have been revolted by the violence and the brutality of the attacks. And the Viet Cong are going to leave those cities and towns with less support than when they en-

In the presence of these boys representing the three programs of the Boy Scouts of America, Mayor Donal Parker today Feb. 5th signed a proclamation urging all citizens of Hempstead County and the city of Hope to observe Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13, marking its 58th anniversary.

Mayor Parker said in his proclamation that Scouting has as its theme "Scouting rounds a guy out" through which it seeks to challenge a boy's mind and muscle, and give him an opportunity to develop self confidence.

He called on all citizens, to recognize the dedicated and devoted service being performed for our community by volunteer Scout leaders and expressed appreciation to the institutions using the Scout program.

In Hope there are five Cub Scout Packs, four Boy Scout Troops, and two Explorer posts; these units serve over 300 boys in our community each year.

McNamara acknowledged that while allied forces were able to put down the uprisings, they couldn't stop them from occurring.

"These guerrilla type actions can be initiated by a few, and the many can't stop them," McNamara said. "The many can prevent them from succeeding but the many can't stop them from starting, and I think that is exactly what has happened in South Vietnam today."

A questioner asked whether the United States will respond to the terrorism by sending more troops.

"The commanders haven't asked for men," McNamara replied. "They feel they have adequate strength to meet the situation now and as far into the future as they project."

McNamara added: "I don't want to foreclose the possibility of requests in the future, but we have received none to date. While I'm on that, let me simply say we are prepared to send more men if more are required."

The Pentagon chief disclosed that three aircraft carriers—the Enterprise, Ranger and Yorktown—have been dispatched into Korean waters in the wake of the North Korean takeover of the Pueblo.

McNamara also revealed that within one hour of the ship's takeover the United States switched its secret codes so that "we do know that our worldwide communications were not compromised."

Some of the ship's classified gear and information may have fallen into enemy hands, but much was destroyed, he indicated.

Neither McNamara nor Rusk would say flatly that the vessel never entered North Korea's 12-mile territorial limit, as claimed by the Communists.

But McNamara said between Jan. 10 and 21 the ship was operating with radio silence "appropriate to its mission" and its exact movements during that period would not be known until the crew and commander were released.

Rusk said "we cannot be 1,000 per cent sure" the Pueblo did not penetrate North Korean waters but he said "we have not a single scrap of information" to indicate it did.

If the United States obtains facts showing the Pueblo violated territorial waters, "we will make those facts available," Rusk promised.

Civil Rights Measure Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has abandoned efforts to get a vote on a pending civil rights bill until after the Senate returns Feb. 14 from a Lincoln day holiday.

Mansfield said in an interview he expects a compromise version of the measure to be offered shortly. But he said he won't try to get a vote on it before the Senate recesses for the holiday Thursday.

"This bill is not going to please either side in the controversy," he said. "Members will want to talk about it and I don't see any possibility of getting a vote by Thursday."

The Senate already has had 12 days of desultory debate over the measure. It would make it a federal crime to interfere by force or threats with the exercise of federally-guaranteed rights because of an individual's race, color, religion or national origin.

Southern opponents of the bill call it discriminatory. Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who may hold the key votes on any compromise, has contended the measure should be broadened to protect the rights of all persons, not just those of civil rights workers and Negroes.

Senate liberals want the legislation limited strictly to deal with crimes in which race is a factor, contending crimes against Negroes often go unpunished in state courts.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said in a weekend report to constituents the argument over the bill is keeping the Senate from taking up other pressing national problems.

"It is my belief that in the field of race relations and race improvement Congress has gone just about as far as it is possible legally to go," he said.

"We were led to believe that earlier laws, which were enacted supposedly in behalf of civil rights, would have the effect of moving racial violence from the streets into the courts. The violence became 100 times worse than it was in the early 1960's."

How Newsmen Cover War Developments

Note to Managing Editors
The following account of how, and where, AP's photographers are covering developments in Vietnam is for publication if desired:

Exploding Viet Cong rockets in Saigon early Wednesday signaled the outbreak of one of the most dramatic chapters in the Vietnam war.

Street fighting broke out at widely scattered locations, at the U.S. Embassy, the presidential palace, Tan Son Nhut air base, Saigon's waterfront, the Chinese quarter, at many street corners.

Associated Press staff men—newsmen and photographers—were on the job from the start. Robert Tuckman, chief correspondent, scored a wide beat on the first shelling of Saigon. Other reporters participating in the continuing coverage in Saigon were Edwin Q. White, Peter Arnett and George Esper. Several AP staffers were at strategic points such as Da Nang.

A direct leased cable connected the Saigon bureau with AP in New York to bring in the news. In Saigon, one Viet Cong at-

The Viet Cong stormed this government radio station building, and took it. Vietnamese Associated Press newsmen and photographers are covering developments in Vietnam for publication if desired:

had been pinned down by gunfire even as they took pictures from under parked cars, showing Vietnamese combat police and American MPs stopped near the entrance to the presidential palace grounds by Viet Cong fortified in a half-completed building nearby.

At daybreak, AP's Vietnamese photographer, Dan Van Phuoc, had joined U.S. troops as they blasted their way into the Viet Cong-held U.S. Embassy. John Nance jumped back and forth for cover between a bullet-riddled car and a tree to photograph the front gate assault of the embassy.

Joe Holloway and Korean string photographer Sun Chan Hong took pictures of the helicopter arrival of U.S. troops on the roof of the battered embassy.

Hawaii lies 2,090 miles from San Francisco.

HAPPINESS IS HOLLYWOOD EGG ROLL

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — It's nice to see happy people at work. Nobody knows for sure whether a cheerful company means the movie will be any good or not, but it is pleasant to visit a contented set.

They're shooting "With Six You Get Egg Roll" at CBS Studio Center. This is the old Republic Studio, but it's been used for television production for years. Now that CBS is in the feature film business, they're making this first CBS theatrical release here, in the same studio where that great star, Vera Hrubá Ralston, used to roam.

Now we have Doris Day, which is a mighty improvement. And Brian Keith and a fine cast of supporting characters—Pat Carroll (in her first movie) and Alice Ghostley and beautiful Barbara Hershey, the refugee from The Monroes.

Howie Morris is directing, and that accounts for much of the atmosphere of good will, because Howie has more good will than a puppy with his first boy.

Pat Carroll is no slouch in the good-will department, either. They worked together years ago on the old Show of Shows, when Pat played Howie's wife, and they're still ready to drop a badinage at a moment's notice.

Like when they were lighting the set and Howie said he thought he'd catch 40 winks in his trailer. So he pulled out a set of ear plugs—the set is noisy when the technicians are busy—and plugged them in. This was a challenge to Pat.

She just happened to have a duck call in her pocketbook. (For some reason, she promised the person who gave it to her that she would always carry it, and she is a girl who keeps her word.) She also had a pair of finger cymbals—why, I hesitated to ask—and set to work with the duck call and the finger cymbals. Howie's ear plugs were equal to the task, however, and he dozed off briefly.

Meanwhile, Brian Keith was telling a long story of when he was in "Mister Roberts" in Boston and how the cast was entertained by a bunch of women at a brunch, when all the actors were hung over and the ladies presented a program of bird calls and recitations.

Meanwhile, Glenn Connelly, the beautiful gal who designs the clothes, was telling about how a rattlesnake found its way into her house and how she wasn't scared because she knew what to do—she called the fire department.

Meanwhile, Alice Ghostley was reading the book Elizabeth Fraser had written—unpublished, as yet—about her experiences shooting "The Way West." Liz, who used to be a regular on the old Bilko and McKeever and the Colonel shows, has quit acting and is now a press agent. And she loves it.

Meanwhile, Doris Day was relaxing, with her belt off. She says the only thing she dislikes about making movies is having to be dressed up all the time. She likes to quote the remark of a 103-year-old woman who, when asked for the secret of her long life, said, "I never think bad thoughts of anybody, and I never wear tight clothes."

Finally, they were ready to shoot. The assistant director banged on Howie's door and he came out, unplugging his ears, and set to work.

Brian Keith and Doris Day and a huge sheepdog—the one who used to be on Please Don't Eat the Daisies—were doing a scene. The dog was supposed to jump up and lick Brian's face. In case you wonder how that's done, the trainer smeared some baby food on Brian's cheek and the dog behaved like it said in the script.

It was a happy set. Even the dog got in his licks.

This Year: Hawaii

DEAR STEVIE: I think a money belt is the safest way to carry travel funds. My friend thinks her way, pinning a small purse at the waist of her girdle, is best. In any case, one's handbag is not the place for large sums of money when traveling. When ready-made money belts proved too bulky to suit me, I made my own out of unbleached muslin with a stout zipper and fastener. It's roomy enough for bills, travelers' checks and a record of my passport number, etc.—MRS. L. WALLER

DEAR STEVIE: I have a couple of questions about travel in Georgia. Are the beaches enjoyable in mid-April? What are they? Is Sea Island, Ga., only for the wealthy?—MRS. R. F. WOODBURY, New Hartford, N.Y. (Utica Observer-Dispatch)

Enjoyable, yes, but cool for swimming. April air temperature, 57 to 77 degrees. Georgia's Sea Islands are a chain of lush, subtropical islands stretching from Savannah to Brunswick—all with good beaches. Jekyll Island, the most famous and the origin of the "only-for-the-wealthy" rumor, was once the winter home for 60 millionaires. Georgia owns the island now and it's a fabulous year-round vacation center for one and all. One can find reasonably priced motel rooms, public beach facilities and a fine campground, as well as luxurious accommodations.

For Mrs. Edith McKay, Santa Ana, Calif. (The Register) and Rev. B. R. Barner, Jackson, Mich. (Jackson Citizen Patriot): Check with Olympic Airways about the Holy Land Tours and Drive Europe Tours. They will send you folders.

DEAR READERS: I've a hunch Hawaii is "the" place to travel this year. Side-tracked European travelers could learn the hula, boost the economy and get a pat on the head from Lyndon as well—a sight better than an ear-pulling in Paris.

Not only that, Hawaii, a year-round vacation state, has no low or "off" season and next month would be ideal before spring and summer crowds arrive. Oahu, where Honolulu is located, is the best-known of the several islands comprising Hawaii. But the so-called Neighbor Islands—Kauai, Maui, Molokai and the big island of Hawaii are becoming more popular as Oahu with its Waikiki Beach becomes commercialized. So far the Neighbor Islands have retained the charm and peaceful atmosphere of an unspoiled island paradise.

One way to enjoy them is to reserve a rental car at Honolulu Airport, destination of most flights from the mainland, drive around Oahu, drop the car at the airport and hop a commuter plane to one of the other islands. Repeat this on each island. A week's tour, for example, might include four islands and four cars, but the charge would be the same as the lower weekly rate for one car. This way one can linger about and really get the feel of the lei.

When it comes to hibiscus behind the ear, waterfalls, volcanoes and little crescents of beach, one wants to be alone!

DEAR STEVIE: Each fall I gather flower seeds from my garden, add store-bought seeds to them, and in the spring when we travel, I toss my seeds from the car window onto the banks of roads that need perking up. What do you think of that for an America beautification project?—MAUDE J. I think it's great! Think of the headlines—"Flower Travelers of America Stage Seed-In."

Goldwater Credited With Prodding LBJ

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Gov. George Romney credits Barry Goldwater, the Republican whose presidential ticket he would not endorse, with prodding President Johnson "to finally take some action against growing lawlessness in the land."

As Romney renewed his own GOP presidential campaign today, he said that was one of the products of the conservative Goldwater's 1964 race for the White House.

Romney was dividing his campaign day between New Hampshire and New York. After a hand-shaking hunt for presidential primary votes here, he flies to Albany to address the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors.

That puts him on the platform with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is a declared Romney supporter, but looms as a potential problem.

Rockefeller insists he will not become a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, but public opinion polls rate him the party's strongest potential vote getter. And the Romney camp fears a Rockefeller write-in could cut into its vote in the March 12 New Hampshire primary.

Romney talked of the Goldwater campaign in a 17-page position paper on the problem of crime. "The vigorous development of the crime issue by the Republican presidential nominee in 1964 prodded President Johnson to finally take some action..." the Michigan governor said.

Romney said two law enforcement assistance measures, one of them still awaiting congressional action, represent Johnson's initiative. He advocated Senate approval of a $75 million House-passed program of federal aid to states to help improve crime fighting methods.

But Romney added: "The feeble advances of the Johnson administration in law enforcement planning and experimentation are outweighed, however, by its retreat in the war against organized crime."

In his futile 1964 race for the White House, Goldwater stressed the issue was crime in the streets.

Romney never endorsed the GOP ticket, and he has encountered some voter questions about that in his own race for the 1968 nomination.

Romney has insisted that his job in 1964 was to build a Republican victory in Michigan, and has said he acted in that interest. He also has said he could not compromise in 1964 on the issue of civil rights.

nificance at all in keeping Ho Chi Minh from the negotiation table," Fulbright told one such gathering in Pine Bluff.

"Are you willing to accept the inalienability of one leader?" he demanded.

Fulbright is said to feel the administration will help McMath if the former governor decides to run against him.

But many political observers see Fulbright's strength reflected in former Gov. Orval Faubus' attitude.

Faubus held the state house for six straight terms before Searey and Hot Springs, Fulbright told his audiences that big-stick diplomacy is awesome, but the voters defied tradition and elected a Republican, Winthrop Rockefeller.

Faubus has talked of taking on either Fulbright or Rockefeller this year, whichever appeared the weaker. Now Faubus is believed to have given up any idea of challenging fellow Democrat Fulbright in favor of rearing in on Rockefeller.

The senator has been tending since last fall, "discussing the issues" with the voters in 32 speeches and question-and-answer sessions.

In appearances in Pine Bluff, of course, a victory is preferable," he said.

"I keep hoping the President will recognize that it's in his interest and in the interest of the country to bring it (the war) to a close by a negotiated settlement."

But, he said, "there always seems to be some obstacle to a negotiated settlement."

"I believe this administration is unwilling now to accept anything short of victory."

Fulbright told his audiences one reason he urges restraint over the Pueblo seizure "are the circumstances that grew out of the Tonkin Gulf."

In that 1964 incident the administration charged North

Vietnamese PT boats attacked two U.S. destroyers on the high seas off North Vietnam. It became the basis for the resolution, which Fulbright steered through the Senate, expressing advance approval for U.S. steps in Southeast Asia.

But, Fulbright told the Searey meeting, "The ships in the Tonkin Gulf incident were not always outside (North Vietnam's) 12 mile limit. I didn't know it at the time."

Because his Foreign Relations Committee is now re-examining the Tonkin Gulf incident and considering whether to have public hearings, Fulbright declined to elaborate except to say:

"What we originally understood is not quite the case." And to a meeting of Arkansas newspaper editors in Hot Springs, he said: "I didn't suspect we could be so misled. Do I make myself clear?"

Tomorrow's Fantasies

New accessories will heighten the varied moods of spring fashions in bold Bonnie and Clyde styles. In nostalgic movie star take-offs of the 1930s, in romantic plantation belle inspirations and in far-out fantasies of tomorrow. Colors blow hot and cold to touch up mini, midi and maxi lengths. Ruffles will flutter, jewels will glitter from new collars to new boot toes.
